About Us

It's pretty simple, we are a family that was built on solid family values, a strong work ethic, and an intense passion for all that is food related.

We are constantly traveling to different countries to taste their spices to later adapt their flavor to ours. We also create many cultural dishes in our bakery as an effort to bring a piece of home to the many immigrants here in Miami. We also travel domestically to different cities, testing the latest technology for bakeries to speed up production.

We are especially tickled with creative food that we relentlessly mix and match. We have a thirst for preserving the love of food in its international and cultural breadth as well as its historic depth. Presentation is Gilbert's is all about beautifully creative delicious foods, good family values, and an intense drive to become a part of your family life.

HISTORY

Our family's baking tradition began in 1928 in Camagüey, Cuba as a husband and wife operation. They baked family recipes and peddled them around the town's train station. As the family grew, so did their success. Under the leadership of their oldest son, they traveled to the United States and Europe bringing products and techniques from abroad. In 1962 their enterprise, now distributing across the entire island, was confiscated by the Castro regime. Seeing that they were stripped, not only of their business, but also of their most basic freedom, they fled Cuba for the United States of America.

Starting from the ground up, again proved well worth it for the family. The oldest son, now a Cuban-American entrepreneur, was busy rebuilding his bakery in the United States. Meanwhile, his son-in-law, Gilberto Arriaza was learning traditional American, Jewish, German, Austrian and Italian product lines from some of the best old-fashioned bakers in Miami. Years later, Gilberto and family worked together to make their Cuban bakery flourish in Little Havana and the Miami Latin community.

After his father-in-law's death, Gilberto went on his own, uniting his knowledge of the Latin community with his vast experience of European pastries. In 1976, Gilbert's Bakery was inaugurated as 1/5th of the size of today's Douglas location. Capitalizing on the ethnic and operational experience gained in his previous work and driving forward with an extremely creative and open zest for food, Gilbert's soon became known for quality, presentation and creativity. This remains the cornerstone of Gilbert's Bakery today. The next generation is now involved and positively contributing to the history we will be writing tomorrow.

The family behind the business

The family behind the business is the Arriaza family. Gilberto Arriaza is the founder and President of Gilbert's Bakery. Gilberto learned the trade through work with companies including the Ranch House, Burdines and Perezsosa Bakeries from 1964-1977. His knowledge is compounded by the experience gathered by Aida Arriaza, his wife and secretary of Gilbert's Bakery, whose family tradition of baking dates back to 1928 in Camagüey, Cuba.

Gilberto and Aida opened Gilbert's Bakery in 1977 along with their children: Maria, Gilberto Jose, Susana and later Cristina, all with a commitment. The children went to school and simultaneously worked at the bakery. Gilberto Jose joined the business full-time in 1994 as General Manager and Vice-President. He brought to the business his Industrial Engineering education and experience. In 1995, Maria also joined full-time as Director of Sales and Treasurer bringing her marketing and artistic experience to the table. Susana and Cristina are both very actively involved with the family business on a part-time capacity.
